06 - Aoili / Mayonaise

Source: Kragen Javier Sittaker

8 egg yolks

1 t salt

2 T oil

700ml oil

1. Blend.
2. Continue to blend. Keep adding oil, about half as much as is in already, keeping it to an emulsion.

07 - Artichokes

1. Cut pointy tips off artichokes, about the last inch. Trim stem to 1-2 inches.
2. Boil in water until done, about 20-40 minutes. Extra water is fine.
3. Take out and let cool until you can touch it with your hand.

How to eat

1. Grab a bowl for trash (there will be a lot), and a small dipping bowl for sauce. I suggest any of

Zesty Italian Dressing
Lemon Pepper BWW Sauce

2. Eat by peeling off leaves and dipping the base in sauce, and scraping off the meat with your teeth. Throw out the inedible part of the leaf. Leaves become softer and more edible as they get smaller.
3. When you get to the really tiny leaves, they will be no fun to eat, and you will start seeing an inedible "hair" under them. Pull the remainder of the leaves out in clumps, and scrape out the hair with a spoon, revealing a smoothed meat surface underneath. Underneath is a huge, smooth edible portion called the "artichoke heart". Dip the whole thing in sauce and eat it in bites. Some of the stem is edible too.

08 - Biscuit, Angel Biscuits

Source: online, not folk school recipe

4. Cover + let rise in a warm place until doubled, about 1 hour.
5. Bake at 450°F for 8-10 minutes or until golden brown. Brush tops with melted butter. Serve warm.

09 - Biscuit, Hard Tack

1 kg flour
1 L water
2 t salt

1. Roll into $\frac{1}{2}$ " thick rectangle, cut into 3"x3" pieces. Poke a bunch of holes in both sides with a fork, very important.
2. Cook 30min/side at 375°F.
Store in ziplocs or other airtight container. They get harder for the first few days if you leave them open, so you should.

These are not the ultra-hard hard tack from olde times. But if you can you can eat them like they are! Soak in water or milk 15 min. Can fry.

If you cook these longer at a lower temperature they would probably be drier.

Zak's tip: They are actually okay crackers and keep forever.

Zak's tip: These cause inflammation due to the wheat.

10 - Bread, Cornbread

$\frac{1}{4}$ c salted butter, melted
1 c milk

5. Pan-fry each. 45-60 second on one side, 15-20 on the other. They should be soft with light brown spots on both sides.

29 - Cheese, Homemade paneer and whey

Time: 0.5-2 days

1 gallon milk
1 t citric acid

1. Heat milk. Keep below a boil, because it's easy to burn.
2. Add acid--vinegar or citric acid--until it curdles.
1 tsp citric acid per gallon.
3. Strain curds through cheesecloth, leaving whey in a jar to drink later if wanted. Wash curds in cold water to cool.
4. Squeeze curds more and more. Getting out all the water is key to reducing the time in step 5.
5. (Long step) Press the cheese for some time, letting it dry. Between two plates is good, make sure it will drain off the cheese when moisture comes out.

The cheese will end up like quesada fresca, paneer, or ricotta depending how much moisture you take out.

Whey is tasty with citric acid, not with vinegar.

Zak's Tip: Everyone but me says whey's gross.

- 1 (6-oz) can of tomato paste
- 3 T cacao powder
- 5 c water
- $\frac{1}{4}$ t cinnamon
- 1 (2) t garlic powder
- 1 t cumin
- $\frac{1}{4}$ t allspice
- $\frac{1}{4}$ t ground cloves
- $\frac{1}{4}$ t red pepper flakes

- $\frac{1}{2}$ t sugar
- 2 T apple cider vinegar
- 1 $\frac{1}{4}$ lb lean ground beef
- 5 c water

1. Add water, tomato paste, chocolate. Stir with whisk to combine.
2. Add spices.
3. Crumble in ground beef, stir with whisk.
4. Boil. Turn down to med-low. Cook uncovered 1-1 $\frac{1}{2}$ hours.

How to eat. Combine

- seared hot dog in a bun OR thin spaghetti
- very finely grated cheese
- tabasco sauce
- (optional) raw onion, diced
- (optional) beans, cooked

Zak's tip: (untested) You need 100% lean beef, the fat otherwise absorbs the chili spices, leaving a boring liquid and a fiery-hot fat layer congealed on top.

Cook the beef first, and skim the fat off the top. Put the cooked beef through a food processor, and return to the liquid.

Or if that's too hard, mix them or take a bit of both when serving.

Source: Parents

Serves: 2-3

- 1 c rice (we use brown instant rice)
- 1 c of chopped green (or yellow or red) sweet pepper
- 1 c of chopped tomato
- 1 chicken breast, chopped
- $\frac{1}{4}$ small sweet onion, chopped (optional)
- 1 c of pineapple chunks
- 3 T of vegetable oil
- 1 can coconut milk
- *1 T curry paste (green/yellow/red/masaman)
- * $1\frac{1}{2}$ T Javin Brand curry powder

*Found at oriental food stores

1. Start rice early enough it's ready with the curry.
2. Heat oil in frying pan, medium heat.
3. Add curry powder. Stir to make paste.
4. Add curry paste. C chop with wooden spoon and stir.
5. Add coconut milk from top of can, throw away any oil from the bottom part.
6. Add chicken. Let cook for a few minutes, then flip each chicken piece to ensure it cooks throughout.
7. Add onion. The onion needs to be on the bottom or it won't soften.
8. Add sweet pepper and tomato. The green gives a nice color to the food, but I think the other taste better, so choose what you like.
9. Cover with lid – it will spatter your stove otherwise.
10. Stir occasionally until done.
11. Add pineapple and re-cover for a few minutes to get the pineapple to the same temperature as the rest.
12. Serve over rice. To be fully authentic, have a Singha beer!

Source: Mama and Dada

Mix

$\frac{1}{2}$ c red salsa, chunky

$\frac{1}{2}$ c sour cream

Serve cold with tortilla chips.

51 - Dip, Hummus

Source: Mama and Dada

1 c chickpeas, canned

$\frac{1}{3}$ c tahini

$\frac{1}{3}$ c lemon juice

cumin powder

1. Drain canned chickpeas, saving the liquid.
2. Put chickpeas in blender.
3. Add tahini, lemon juice, and cumin. Tahini typically separates in the container, so be sure to add both the liquid and solid parts.
4. Add some chickpea liquid as needed to get it to blend. Finding a blender that works for this is the hard part. We had to play with the blender setting as well as the amount of chickpea liquid.
5. The amount of cumin depends on how you like it (taste-wise and viscosity). The age of the powder also matters. Older powder loses strength.

52 - Dip, Guacamole

- 1 mashed avocado
- 1 chopped avocado
- 1 T lemon juice
- 1 T salsa
- $\frac{1}{2}$ t chili powder
- $\frac{1}{2}$ t chopped garlic

Hummus

Pretty much every dip works.

54 - Drink, Cold Brew Coffee

Source: Zachary, 2019-11-20. Based on recipes with ground beans.

Makes: About 3 c

100 g whole roasted beans

1 quart jar

1. Put beans in jar
2. Fill with water
3. Wait 3 days
4. Filter beans out

Experimentation notes

- Tried grinding beans on 2 machines, tasted burnt.
- Ground coffee needs at least 3x less coffee, it's much stronger.
- Haven't tried pre-ground coffee.
- Tried freeze distillation. Lost all coffee flavor.
- Tried evaporation. Lost all coffee flavor.
- Tried low-simmer boiling. 10x tastes burnt. 5x is worth trying again.
- Measuring concentration by color worked best. pH does not work.

55 - Drink, Cream Soda

Simple Syrup

Boil

1 c water

1 c sugar

Vanilla Syrup

Add

3 T vanilla

Cream Soda

Combine

1 oz vanilla syrup

1 slice lemon

Great for if you're sick.

58 - Drink, Milk & Coke

Zak's Note: We came up with this when I was like 8. I'm too scared to try it again. I think we might have frozen it, too.

59 - Drink, Not-Turkish Coffee

For each cup of coffee

- 1 t sugar
- 1 turkish cups water, ~2.5 fl oz

1. Add water.

1 c wine vinegar (red wine is tasty)
mint

1. Dissolve sugar in water. Bring to a boil.
2. Add vinegar. Open a window. Simmer ½ hour.
3. Take off burner, add mint. Strain back out mint.

To drink, dilute to taste. Good hot or cold.

Zak's tip: This is okay to keep unrefrigerated and sealed for months.

61 - Roast Duck with Potatoes

1 duck, mine was 4.5lb

8 potatoes (1.2kg)

1. Defrost duck over 2+ days. Mine was not wholly defrosted, the inside was frozen
2. Chop potatoes
3. Remove giblets and set aside. Heart and liver are good. Throw out gizzard (too much work) and kidneys (gross) or use them for stock.
4. Split duck along spine, and lay over a pan of potatoes.
5. Slice duck skin with knife, without going all the way through.
6. In 425°F preheated oven, roast a pan of potatoes, and duck fat-side-down. After 30 minutes, flip duck. Take duck out after 45 minutes total.

Note: I cooked 75 minutes total, which was too long for the duck. Try 45 next time (potatoes may need longer)

62 - Eggs, Deviled

Source: Mama

eggs

mayonnaise or similar substitute

mustard, yellow

(optional) paprika

1. Hard-boil some eggs until the yolks are solid.
2. Slice eggs in half lengthways. Remove yolks.
3. In a bowl, mix together 1 part yolk with enough mayonnaise to make a creamy liquid (about the same). Add some mustard too.
4. Scoop the mix back into the eggs--it will now heap up a bit.
5. (Optional) Sprinkle on paprika for color.

63 - Egg, Quiche from some cookbook

Pie Crust

- 1 c flour
- $\frac{1}{2}$ t salt
- $\frac{1}{3}$ c shortening
- $2\frac{1}{2}$ T water

1. Sift flour + salt.
2. Add $\frac{1}{2}$ shortening, work with hands until like cornmeal. Add $\frac{1}{2}$ shortening in pea sized bits with pastry cutter.
3. Roll the dough.

Quiche

- $\frac{1}{4}$ lb bacon, sliced
- 2 c milk or cream
- 3 eggs
- $\frac{1}{4}$ t salt
- $\frac{1}{8}$ t white pepper
- nutmeg
- 1 t chives
- $\frac{1}{2}$ c cheese (diced swiss)

1. Cook bacon, dry well.
2. Scald milk.
3. Beat in eggs, spices.
4. Add bacon to pie, along with cheese.
5. Pour custard.
6. Bake 35-40 min at 375°F.

Notes:

Takes a really long time to dry enough, listed time is not enough. Find a recipe with less milk/liquid

63 - Egg, Dada's Quiche

1. slice bottom of frozen pie crust to prevent bubbling careful to not slice through aluminum foil
2. put crust in oven at 375-400 F for ~20 minutes, use a pan to prevent spills and ease handling
3. cut off tough part of asparagus and throw away; cut remainder into segments 1.5-2 inches long
4. nuke asparagus ~2 minutes
5. spread asparagus to cool
6. break 4-5 medium eggs into bowl, stir thoroughly w/
1 tablespoon of 2% milk
7. slice miniature tomatos, chop cooled asparagus into small pieces
8. when crust is lightly browned, remove from oven and place pan on top of stove
9. add asparagus, spreading evenly
10. re-stir egg mixture, then pour over asparagus - the amount of liquid depends on egg size, and medium egg vary from week to week.

It's better to have too little egg than too much. Too much makes it inedible and I've never been able to salvage the quiche. The eggs in the jpgs were fairly large for medium eggs. I threw away the part shown in the bowl.

11. cover thoroughly with mozzarella
12. cover with tomato slices (optional)
13. bake for 25-30m; I check the center at 25m

Both uncooked egg and melted cheese look the same, so a bit of a judgement call. If you cut it into serving, then let it cool a couple of minutes, you can taste it to be sure. If not quite done, 1-2 minutes in the microwave finishes the cooking.

Tonight's quiche came out perfect after 25 minutes.

Proof for 5 minutes

$\frac{1}{4}$ c warm water

2 t yeast

1 t sugar

Add

$1\frac{1}{2}$ c water

2 t salt

$3\frac{1}{2}$ c flour

Knead, adding

2 T oil

1. Put in greased bowl, let rise covered for 1 hr.
2. Divide into 2-3 portions, let rest 10 minutes. On parchment paper (it will be too thin to transfer), press each into a $\frac{1}{2}$ " circular round with palms, let rest briefly, then roll thinner with a rolling pin. You want it a little translucent ($\frac{1}{4}$ "), with a thicker rolled edge (at least $\frac{1}{2}$ ") for nice puffing.
3. Allegedly the frozen rounds might keep 3 months, with 30 minute thaw time.
4. Brush with oil to prevent sogginess. Add toppings.
5. Cook at 500°F for 12 minutes on second-to-bottom rack, monitor to figure out cook times for your oven. Burns easily but should be a fast cook. Bubbles may form, use a rolling pin or poke holes to prevent them. Stretch by hand to get them.

Pesto to cover

Feta cheese to cover

Olives or olive spread

Minced garlic, or baked garlic

Red sauce toppings

$\frac{1}{3}$ c cheese

$\frac{1}{3}$ c tomato sauce (I used marinara)

Put the lid on the pot and shake to coat.
3. Add any seasoning and shake again thoroughly.

127 - Spanikopita

Source: themediterraneandish.com

Makes: 1 large pan, or 15 meals.

Ingredients

- 1 package standard pan-sized phyllo dough
- 16oz cooked and very dried spinach
- 2 bunches parsley
- 1 onion
- 2 cloves garlic
- 2 T olive oil
- 4 eggs
- 8-12 oz feta (one package)
- 1 t dill, dry
- pepper

1. Defrost phyllo dough in refrigerator. To make it extra easy to use, you can put it between slightly damp towels ahead of time.
2. Mix filling
3. In a pan a little smaller than the dough sheets:
 - 3/6 of the dough: add a layer of oil, then 2 sheets of dough, repeat.
 - 1/6 of the dough: add a layer of oil, then a layer of filling, then a layer of phyllo
 - $\frac{2}{3}$ of the dough: layer of oil, then layer of phylloPinch or fold edges over into the pan.
Finally, add some oil and water on top to prevent things from crisping or burning.
4. Bake at 325°F for 1 hour

You should use about 1 c oil total--by brushing I used probably twice that, and mine ended up too oily. Either brush less or use a spray can next time.
